The board is typically a 5x5 grid, though variations exist. Underneath the tiles lie two types of products:

Mastering the Strategy: How to Approach the Grid

2. The Pattern-Based Strategy

Some gamers think in picking tiles in specific, duplicating patterns (e.g., constantly choosing the 4 corners initially, or staying with the middle row). While math dictates that the mines are randomly produced by a Random Number Generator (RNG), many gamers find that having a "routine" helps maintain composure during high-pressure rounds.

3. The Martingale Variation

Some players make use of a customized Martingale strategy, where they increase their wager after a loss to recover previous funds. Caution: This is a high-risk method that requires a significant bankroll and ought to be approached with extreme care.

Tips for Success

- Set a Budget: Before you begin, define precisely how much you want to invest. Stay with that limitation regardless of whether you are winning or losing.
- Know When to Walk Away: If you have reached a substantial multiplier, do not feel pressured to go for the "clear board." The greed that leads to another click is the main cause of losses.
- Evaluate the Multipliers: Different games offer various settings concerning the number of mines on the board. A board with 1 mine is significantly easier than a board with 10. Always adjust your strategy based on the trouble level.
