Unlike Crash, where gamers watch a rocket or a line climb up and by hand money out before it crashes, Limbo is a static game. Gamers choose a target multiplier before the round starts. The game then generates a random multiplier. If the created multiplier is equivalent to or higher than the gamer's target, the bet wins. If it falls listed below the target, the bet loses.

How a Round Works:

1. Place a Bet: The player selects just how much cash they wish to wager.

3. Roll/Spin: The player hits the bet button.
4. The Result: The system generates a random number. The UI displays whether the target was fulfilled and computes the payment instantly.

Understanding the Mathematics and RTP

To an observer, Limbo might look like pure uncertainty, but it is deeply rooted in possibility. The majority of trusted online casinos use Limbo with a really high Return to Player (RTP)-- usually around 99%. This implies the house edge is a razor-thin 1%.

The mathematical relationship in Limbo is Bitz inversely proportional: The greater your target multiplier, the lower your win likelihood. On the other hand, the lower your target, the greater your opportunities of winning.

Limbo Probability Breakdown

To give players a clearer photo of how threat and benefit scale in Limbo, think about the following statistical breakdown (assuming a requirement 1% house edge):

£ 20.00 5.00 x 19.80% £ 50.00 10.00 x 9.90% £ 100.00 50.00 x 1.98% £ 500.00 100.00 x 0.99% £ 1,000.00
1,000.00 x 0.099% £ 10,000.00
