The Masai Mara is a year round park, however the trip ameliorations sharply via month. July to October is migration season: wildebeest herds, river crossings and the best call for. Book early and are expecting peak prices.

January to March is the green season. Short rains carry contemporary grass, calving predators dwell positioned, and camps cut price. Roads are private 3 day masai mara safari softer yet possible in a 4x4.

April and May are the long rains, with the heaviest downpours and some camps closed. June is a transition month with nice significance. For photographers, the dry season light and dirt are unbeatable. For honeymooners, February and 3 day masai mara safari September steadiness climate and crowds. Check %LINK% for current season notes.