The objective is easy: cash out before the game arbitrarily "crashes."

If a player effectively squanders at 2.50 x, they double their cash (minus the house edge). Nevertheless, if the game crashes before they hit the cash-out button, they lose their whole stake for that round. The twist? The crash point is determined before the round even begins utilizing a cryptographically safe and secure random number generator (RNG), suggesting the multiplier might in theory crash instantly at 1.00 x, or it could skyrocket to 1,000 x or greater.

The Mechanics: How a Round Plays Out

2. The Launch: The round begins. A visual element-- typically a rocket, a jet, or merely an ascending line-- takes off, and the multiplier starts ticking up.
3. The Climb: As the multiplier increases, the prospective payout grows. Stress builds in real-time chat rooms as gamers enjoy others cash out or hang on for greater multipliers.
