Frequently Asked Questions

Who provides furnace repair in Markham, ON?

Markham Heating & Air Conditioning provides reliable furnace repair for homes and businesses throughout Markham, ON. Our experienced technicians inspect and repair a wide range of heating system issues.

Do you offer emergency furnace repair?

Yes. We offer emergency furnace repair to bring your heating system back up and running when unexpected breakdowns occur, with same-day service available whenever possible.

How much does furnace repair cost?

Repair costs depend on the issue, required parts, and the condition of the furnace. We provide clear estimates after diagnosing the problem.

What are common furnace problems?

Common issues include clogged air filters, faulty thermostats, ignition problems, poor airflow, and worn components. Regular maintenance helps prevent many of these problems.

How fast can a technician arrive?

Response times depend on technician availability and demand. We prioritize urgent heating situations and aim to provide prompt service.

Are furnace repairs covered in maintenance plans?

Many maintenance plans include inspections, tune-ups, and discounts on eligible repairs. Coverage depends on the selected maintenance plan.

Can you service all furnace brands?

Yes. Our technicians service and repair most major furnace brands and heating system models.

How do I know my furnace may be failing?

Warning signs include no heat, unusual noises, uneven heating, frequent cycling, and rising energy bills. A qualified inspection can determine the cause before it leads to more costly repairs.

Can I schedule same-day furnace repair?

Yes. Same-day furnace repair is available for many service calls, depending on scheduling and parts availability.

Are HVAC technicians licensed in Ontario?

Absolutely. Our HVAC technicians are experienced and perform repairs in accordance with Ontario regulations and industry standards.

How do I know when it's time to replace my furnace?

Replacement is often recommended if the furnace is over 15–20 years old or requires frequent costly repairs. A new system can increase efficiency and reliability.

Why choose local furnace repair services?

Local technicians provide quicker response times and understand Markham's heating needs. They also offer continued support and personalized customer service.
